

FRESH

As part of our ongoing commitment to social responsibility - including when it comes to the food we serve - we're proud to use cage-free eggs. The birds who lay these eggs aren't confined in thin cages and have the chance to, well, act more like birds. It's better for them. It's better for us. It's better for the planet.

Proud to Use CAGE-FREE EGGS

Cage-Free chickens are raised in a stress-free environment and are not in cages. They are kept in growing houses where they can roost and socialize freely, participating in their chicken behaviors and pecking orders, and laying their eggs in dark, quiet nests.